

Web-based subscription tracking & management software

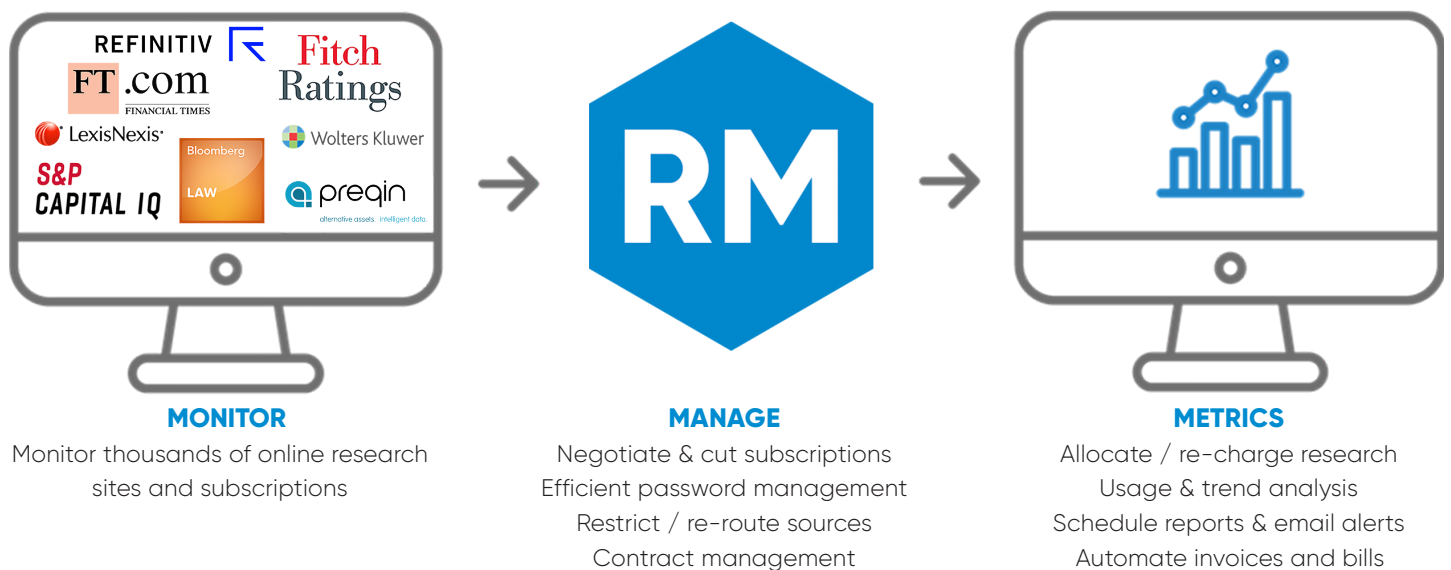

Companies spend millions on web-based subscriptions. But how do you know if your firm is fully utilizing these expensive services, or if you're wasting money?

Gain complete visibility of your online resource usage with ResearchMonitor

ResearchMonitor provides firms with a central system to manage and analyze all of your online subscriptions.

Companies use ResearchMonitor to reduce cost and improve efficiency; providing visibility into, and control over, online usage. This facilitates informed negotiation with vendors, internal or client cost allocation, and many other use cases such as password management, contract compliance, and so on.

How does it work?

Key features

Subscription costs:

- "Paid for itself in a few months, driven by savings in vendor fees."
- "Negotiated down subscriptions we weren't using, and guided users to less expensive sites."
- "Central view into vendors and usage, enabled us to allocate fees internally and for client recharge."

Risk:

- "Provided visibility into 3rd party license breach penalty risk."
- "Resolved compliance and license access risk, especially with leavers and joiners."
- "Enabled us to unbundle research fees for regulatory risk requirements and fund allocation."

Time savings & control:

- "Saved up to half my day dealing with forgotten passwords."
- "End users' experience improved by having seamless login experience."
- "A one-stop shop to view, control and report on subscriptions."

Configuration & maintenance included as standard

Using a service we don't support yet? No problem! Additional web sites can be added quickly and easily for any online service as part of standard support at no additional charge.
